The Strangled Bride of Ee-too. (A Brazilian Tale.)

Where mouning breezes sadly blow Thro' lone Brazilian woods, With melancholy murmur flow The Tee-a-tity's dark floods.

Still gliding onwards, till the Falls Afar break on the view ; Which the old Too pee Indian calls,

In his own tongue, Ee-too. Down the steep ledges headlong bounds The stream, so still before:

And like the din of thunder sounds The Cataract's loud roar! Beside the foaming Cascade's brink Once stood a pretty cot-

Now desolate-and trembling shrink Wayfarers from the spot! For, in that ionesome cottage there, A fearful deed was done-

Would make to stand on end your bair, And cold your blood to run! One summer's eve, a youthful pair To the gay cottage sped; The swain was hold, the maid was fair,

The same day they were wed? And now he leads his beauteous bride Into their cottage bright-While, o'er the scene, like phantoms glide

The sombre shades of night! What means that tremor in her voice?-That palor on her cheek?-

Doth she not in that hour rejoice, Which maidens fondly seek? tian! before her conscience steals A mem'ry big with shame!-

And to her bridegroom she reveals The stain on her fair fame! Madly to grasp her throat he flies, 'Thout pity or remorse!-

Beside their bridal couch she dies. A hideous, strangled corse!

Then, with his murder'd bride he springs Into the deep Ee-too!-Still, the old Too-pee Indian sings Their fate, so strange and true!

Nove,-The locality which was the scene of this tragic event, is situated in the forests between Santos and Sao Paulo in Brazil. A distinguished Brazilian writer, and Consul of that Empire at New York, has writen a novel in Portuguese. and too confiding bride The closing verses differ from the novel in question. Santos is a handsome scaport, south of Rio de Janeiro, (which I visited in March 1876.) It is now con sected with Sae Paulo by a railroad, which passes through picturesque and romantic scenery, including the waterfall of the Itu (Ecc-too) of the River Ticte (Tec-a-tay,) in the old home of the Tupi (Too-pee.) These were a branch of the Guaranis, the ancient race of South America, east of the Quichuas or old Peruvian. The Tupi language bears

" free chops," and when the old loafers come around he shows them an ax and a wood-pile. When was the most uniform distribution of physical suffering on record? When the Pilgrim Fathers of New England had six corns apiece.

Detroit Press: The great big overgrown cuff-button has gone out of fashion. It was found to be more convenient and cheaper to carry more brass in the face and cut the buttons down. It is the opinion of a New York lawyer that his profession contains more mean men than any other four professions, and he is going to become an editor. The seletion he has made for his new vocation shows that his repentence is sincere, and intention to reform earnest.

Western papers are boasting that a Nevada man read a newspaper while a tumor was taken out of his side. That is nothing. A man in Rhode Island whistled the other day while a Massachusetts dog was taken off his legs.

When a boy was asked, "What was the text this morning?" he replied; "It was something in hatchets." "In hatchets? No, it was in Acts." "Well, I knew it was something that would cut," said the boy, very triumphantly.

A person leaving a crowded stage on Madison avenue, N. Y., the other day, steadied himself by resting his hands on the knees of the passengers. "What a savage!" exclaimed one lady. "Yes," replied her companion. "He's

"I can never enjoy poetry when I am cook-in'," said an old lady; "but when I step out to feed the hogs, and h'ist myself on the fence and throw my soul into a few lines of 'Cap'in Jinks,' it does seem as if this airth was made to live on, after all."

There had been a discussion about the cost of a dress, she was wrathy. "It's all very well." she pouted, " for you to expect a woman to be an angel; but I'd have you to know sir, that I wouldn't even be an angel, unless my wings could be cut goring. There, now.'

After the usual explanation to a Freshman Class in regard to laws and customs of the college by a class officer, when opportunity was given for questions not fully understood, a Freshman raised his hand, and in a voice full of anxiety asked, "Professor, what time do we

A three-years-old little girl, at Rochester, N. Y., was taught to conclude the evening prayer, during the temporary absence of her father, with, " and please watch over my papa." It sounded very sweet, but the mother's amusement may be imagined when she added : " And you'd better keep an eye on mamma, too! "

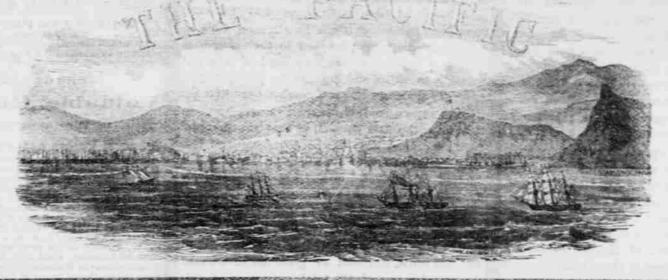

A youngster being required to write a composition upon some portion of the human body, selected that part which unites the head to the body: " A throat is convenient to have, especially to roosters and ministers. The former eats the corn and crows with it; the latter preaches through his'n, and then ties it up. This is pretty much all I can think of about

Chicago Journal: She was a very modest girl (just from Boston), and when the observatory astronomer said : " Take a glance through telescope, Miss, and you will see Venus in all her glory," she frigidly drew back and replied:
"No, thank you, sir; I have no desire to look at any member of my sex who dresses as she is represented to." The astronomer froze in his boots, and it wasn't a very cold night either.

Some weeks ago the French puzzle,

" Pas de lieu Rhone que nous," Was published in the Christian Union, and answers for it asked. Nine correct answers were received, John Habberton, at first sight, translated it: " Not so far from the Rhone as we." But the chances are ten to one that he felt slightly sheepish when he was told,

" Paddle your own canoe." As the new Secretary of the Navy was leaving his hotel yesterday for the Department, he was suddenly accosted by a stranger, who said : "Is your name Thompson?" The only reply was,
"Yes." "Well," said the stranger, "my name is Key; we are both in the Cabinet; let us be friends." They shook hands in old-time style. Thompson remarked : " I know we will be much better friends with such an introducation than if we had been more formally presen-£ed to each other."

THE HAWAIIAN ISLANDS ARE noted the world over for their unrivaled salabrity of climate. Certain localities in the group are especially favored in this way.—The District of Kona, on the leeward side of Hawaii, has long been famed as a place of resort for invaids with bronchital, or long diseases. With its pure and mild atmosphere, with its absolute freedom from storms or high winds, with its possue soil which, with all its rich vegetation, retains no damposes and yields no malaria, and with an unvarying temperature—that of the American os Southern European June—ALL THE YEAR ROUND, the climate of Kona is one of the healthlest and most luxbrices on the globe.

qualed in the district for size, cleanliness, commodiousness, and thoroughness of furnishing, is prepared to give boarders excellent rooms and all obtainable comforts in the way of diet,

THERE ARE FRESH WATER BATES on the premises, and fine sea bathing within a short distance. The steamer K lauca and the schooners Ullama and Prince, run regularly between Honolulu and the Kaawaloa landing.
